

3. Software Features

Studio Express is designed to support various screen dimensions, such as mobile phones, tablets, and laptop computers. For example, the same “Welcome aboard” page can fit a mobile phone screen and a laptop computer screen properly. The following two pictures show how it looks on both screen sizes. This flexible design makes it extremely accessible to users.

The remaining sections of this chapter will describe the key features in details. To make it concise, we only use mobile-phone screenshots for illustration from here onwards.
